PRIVILEGED INSTRUCTIONS

TÜRKİYE CUMHURİYETİ
DIŞİŞLERİ BAKANLIĞI

REPUBLIC OF TÜRKİYE
MINISTRY OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS

Privileged Instructions

Fundamental Principle:

- A resolution of the Cyprus situation that establishes a single nation with political equality between the Greek Cypriot and Turkish Cypriot states.

Desired End States:

- A bizonal nation composed of two strong communal governments.
- The codification of a single nation which resides two separate states embracing the unique differences and separate heritages of its peoples.
- A confederation with a central government subservient to the two constituent states and equally representative of the desires of both peoples.
- A nation that enjoys the same level of security as was enjoyed upon the 1960 grant of independence.
- The maintenance of the pre-existing agreements with the Guarantor Powers that ensure the continued security of our two founding states.

Delegation Instructions

Ensure periodic reports, requests for further guidance, or clarifications to the instructions herein are submitted via message to the office of the Foreign Minister.

GENERAL: The stalemate on Cyprus has all been aggravated because the Greek Cypriots have all of the political and economical advantages over the Turkish Cypriots. The status quo favors the Greek Cypriots. We have supported the Turkish Cypriot community and are the only nation to recognize their independence as the Turkish Republic of Northern Cyprus. Our support for the TRNC is necessary for their continued existence and building a strong and independent state is our ultimate goal.

- To reach a just and viable settlement, which would protect the rights and interests of the Turkish Cypriots, we have been strongly supporting the negotiation processes on the Island. The constructive approach demonstrated, and the proposals we have put forward during the negotiation processes, are the indicators of our support to the negotiations on the Island.
- We show moral support for Turkish Cypriots to protect their rights and interests both at the negotiation table and in the international arena.
- The policies which are formulated to end the unjust isolation, and to make the voices of Turkish Cypriots heard in the international arena, are conducted by both of our countries in close cooperation.
- As in previous negotiation processes, we have shaped our constructive and proactive policies towards a solution for the TRNC. We continue cooperation with them in order to reach the desired outcomes.

GOVERNANCE

Regarding the formation of the nation, we support the Turkish Republic of Northern Cyprus' position that the Republic of Cyprus should cease to exist upon the implementation of any settlement or peace agreement. This "virgin birth" should operate as a new republic without the ties to the old Greek Cypriot state.

The first step towards re-unification is the international recognition of the TRNC as the rightful home of Turkish Cypriots. As politically equal states, the TRNC and RoC can then begin to work on reforms to join together. Together in harmony this new nation will be composed of two equal parts.

The current Republic of Cyprus is a Greek Cypriot creation. It does not meet the desires of the Turkish Cypriot community. To ensure confidence in the new nation it must demonstrate that it is not simply an annexation by the Greek Cypriot nation. If an independent nation at the birth of a new Cypriot republic cannot be achieved then seek recognition of the TRNC as a legitimate, independent entity lawfully representing the Turkish Cypriot peoples. Given the history of the Greek Cypriots, our brothers must maintain the legal ability to divorce themselves from the Greek Cypriots if security or liberty concerns arise.

RED LINE: Any agreement for a system of government that disenfranchises our community in favor of a Greek Cypriot dominated government.

POWER SHARING

Federal versus State: Greek Cypriots insist on a federation-style government that favors a strong central government and weaker communal governments. This is a recipe for marginalizing the Turkish Cypriots. Having an equal voice is key to preventing the Greek Cypriots from oppressing Turkish Cypriots.

We strongly advocate for a confederation with a small number of national offices as delegated by the stronger communal governments. This will allow each community to regulate and control their respective regions as their constituents see fit. National entities are still required for such things as banking, foreign service, and investigative service. Control over ports, customs, national guard, etc. should be retained by the individual confederated governments.

RED LINE: A strong federal system being implemented.

The Federal Executive: Negotiations have stalled in the past over the proposed structure and composition of the executive branch of a newly formed united nation. We advocate for a Senate-elected President and Vice-President from different communities and that they rotate between communities every 3 years. This assumes an even communal representation in the Senate and ensures that our community is fully represented. Greek Cypriots advocate for a popular vote system with the President and Vice-President being candidates on "one ticket".

We do not advocate for Greek Cypriots to control both the Presidency and Vice-Presidency at the same time. This would remove any checks in the executive branch and not properly represent the Turkish Cypriot community. The only solution to this is by utilizing an evenly divided Senate to select each office and rotate every term.

RED LINE: A popular vote for national elections which inherently bias in favor of the Greek Cypriot majority population.

SECURITY AND GUARANTEES

The Treaty of Alliance and the Treaty of Guarantee established a structure between the Guarantor Powers of Türkiye, Greece, and the United Kingdom for the common defense of the island. It is our position that these treaties are required to maintain proper security and protection. The termination of the Treaty of Guarantee is a deal breaker for the Turkish Cypriots.

The UN has proposed these treaties be replaced by a new treaty between a united Republic of Cyprus along with us and Greece. They prescribe a new set of mechanisms to address inter-communal issues where two communities cannot easily deal with them alone. This proposal has merit.

There is currently no external threat to the island. But we recognize, based on history, that internal threats will always concern us. We reject any discussion on the formation of a standing national army. This would certainly be dominated by Greek Cypriots. To ensure security the formation of two national guard organizations, each organized, populated, and commanded by each communal state.

Safeguards must continue to exist to reassure both communities. Expect the TRNC to take the lead on the UN proposal and work with the SRSg to develop a draft outline of a potential agreement. Ensure that we are included to help deal with current issues. Include the continued need for military intervention and expect the Greek Cypriots to oppose a continuation of military safeguards.

RED LINE: Abrogation of the current treaties is unacceptable without an acceptable replacement.

POPULATION

Our primary concern is proper representation of our brothers from Türkiye who have settled there since the creation of the TRNC. Greek Cypriots consider settlers to be illegal immigrants and would require them to be repatriated as part of an overall settlement. There are large numbers of "mainland" Turks who are naturalized residents of the TRNC and half maintain dual citizenship.

We would concede on repatriation of citizens who have not established residency within the past ten years, not bound by marriage to a Turkish Cypriot native, and not accepted as a candidate petition for Turkish Cypriot citizenship.

The Greek Cypriots do not recognize naturalized citizens of the TRNC. This is absurd as they have gone through the process of integrating into the Turkish Cypriot community based on established citizenship criteria. This leads to Greek Cypriots calling for a census of the TRNC in order to account for all of its people. We support the TRNC in conducting their own census for purposes of working towards a settlement. We reject any outside party enumerating the Turkish Cypriot population.

A large Turkish population in the TRNC is needed to enforce claims that the two communities are equals. Only Turkish Cypriots can identify their population.

RED LINES: Any census conducted by an outside party and not enumerated by our government. Forced repatriations, except for criminal offenses, are unacceptable.

CONFIDENCE BUILDING MEASURES

Confidence building must be a continuous process along with the other issues listed above. Expect the leading advocates to be the United States and United Kingdom. We should be prepared to respond. Expect them to press both us and Greece on certain measures.

Direct Trade Regulation and Turkish EU Accession

With the 2004 accession of the republic into the European Union the European Commission approved a Direct Trade Regulation (DTR) that would have allowed Turkish Cypriots the privilege of direct export to EU member states at reduced customs rates. The Greek Cypriots immediately blocked implementation of the DTR by successfully arguing that the regulation required the consensus of all member states. They additionally argued that trade between EU members and the TRNC legitimized their nation. We refused to implement provisions in the Ankara Protocol we signed in 2005 in response. The Greek Cypriots subsequently blocked our accession into the EU.

This issue has long been between our nation and Greek Cypriots. We have traditionally not engaged with the Greek Cypriots in direct talks. This is in part to force them to deal directly with the TRNC. Therefore, any action on this issue will be coordinated with the TRNC delegation prior to broaching it with the Greek Cypriots.

Greek Cypriots have held their blockage of our entry into the EU under the issue of Turkish forces currently protecting the TRNC. Their empty words contending they are not interested in preventing our accession are not backed up by their actions. If they truly desire an agreement or peace deal, then they should remove the blocks. Their standing in the EU is tenuous as many feel that they are over-reaching and being abusive of EU solidarity. Even the Greeks have distance themselves from this stance.

Varosha, Famagusta Port and Ercan Airport

Greek Cypriots value Varosha and have longed for its return to their control. The suburban coastal area was developed into one of the most attractive tourist locations in the Mediterranean. Since the division on the island this area fell into disrepair. After many years not developing this region, the TRNC has recently begun slowly opening it up for renewal.

The TRNC has made repeated proposals regarding resettlement and redevelopment by Greek Cypriots under generous terms while maintaining it as part of our community and state. All these offers have been rejected by the Greek Cypriots.

With the reopening of the beach in 2020 nearly a half-million visitors have vacationed in Varosha. Waiting for reunification to begin developing this prime area for commercial use was not acceptable. It sat too long as a vacant eyesore and steps to reclaim it from further disrepair have been taken.

Persuade the United Kingdom and the United States to pressure the Greek Cypriots and Greece to allow Famagusta to open for trade under EU, or UN, supervision. This will allow some Greek Cypriot trade with us and help ease economic difficulties within the TRNC.

Ercan Airport is located within the TRNC. It is the only viable airport for entry into the republic. Greek Cypriots have successfully sought a ban on all direct international flights. They demonstrated this fact when a single flight from Baku, Azerbaijan arrived in 2005 and they pressured the carrier to never conduct this flight again. Do not let the Greek Cypriots not recognize Ercan as a legitimate port of entry with TRNC control of passports, visas, customs, and trade. Greek Cypriots view allowing this type of administration of the airport as de facto international recognition and legitimization of the TRNC.

Note: The United States Government does not recognize the "Turkish Republic of Northern Cyprus." Usage of the terms "Turkish Republic of Northern Cyprus" and "TRNC" in this exercise, being administered by the United States Army War College, is used for educational purposes only and does not reflect a contradiction to the United States Government official stance.
