PRIVILEGED INSTRUCTIONS

Ministry of Foreign Affairs
DEMOCRATIC PEOPLE'S REPUBLIC OF KOREA

Privileged Instructions

Fundamental Principle

- The DPRK has the same right as any other nation to provide for the defense of the nation and its people without external interference.
- Under the pyŏngjin line, nuclear weapons are an integral part of the DPRK state philosophy.

Desired End States

- The preservation of our nuclear weapons and ballistic missile systems as a deterrent to the United States.
- The recognition of North Korea as a nation among nations and the normalization of relations with all nations, to include the United States.
- The elimination of all sanctions imposed against our nation.
- Immediate provision of humanitarian assistance.
- Long-term economic development within the DPRK by friendly nations.
- Resumption of Inter-Korean dialogue.
- The commencement of talks on a peace treaty to end the Korean War that recognizes the DPRK as an independent and sovereign nation with all due rights and privileges.

Principle Negotiation Positions

- Our nuclear weapons program is for defense and deterrence purposes only. Our nation is no threat to any other peace-loving nation.
- We wish to live in harmony with South Korea, with our immediate neighbors, Russia and China, and with the other regional nations, such as Japan.
- Since we are not a threat to the United States or any other nation, we seek the removal of all threats against our nation; primarily the withdrawal of all U.S. forces stationed in South Korea and the supporting U.S. forces stationed on Guam and Japan.
- Return to the nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty if our nuclear weapons program is respected, in exchange for the installation of Light Water Nuclear Reactors under a revived KEDO for the sole purpose of generation of electrical power, eventually followed by the creation of a civil nuclear power capability on par with that already established in South Korea.
- We are open to the 'mutual freeze' concept: freezing our nuclear and missile programs in exchange for the suspension of all JP-ROK-U.S. military exercises.

Red Flags

- Any reduction or elimination of our nuclear weapon and ballistic missile programs not coupled to acceptable concessions, guarantees, and agreements by the opposing parties.
- The refusal to recognize, and immediately respond to, the ongoing humanitarian crisis plaguing our nation.
- A refusal to lift sanctions in the face of an ongoing humanitarian crisis and ongoing talks.

Delegation Instructions

Ensure periodic reports, requests for further guidance, or clarifications to the instructions herein are submitted via message to the office of the Foreign Minister.

This The United States, allied with its proxies in South Korea and Japan, is the biggest enemy and main obstacle to our innovated development. Their hostility has driven our nation to develop a nuclear weapons capability to be properly prepared to defend our nation. Our nation will not tolerate the United States' coercive measures intended to force termination of our nuclear weapons and ballistic missile defense programs. Our Dear Leader has wisely set in place the integration of our nuclear program as part of the official state philosophy of the pyŏngjin line. You are reminded that this policy was adopted by the Korean Workers Party (KWP) Central Committee in March of 2013 under the statement:

The DPRK's nuclear armed forces represent the nation's life which can never be abandoned if the imperialists and nuclear threats exist on the earth ... Only when the nuclear shield for self-defense is held fast, will it be possible to shatter the U.S. imperialists' ambition for annexing the Korean peninsula by force and making the Korean people modern slaves.

U.S. and South Korean negotiators must recognize that we have the same rights as their nations do, or that any other nation does, to develop and possess such a program, especially since it is only for our self-defense, as is theirs. When our nation declared itself a nuclear nation, in 2013, the fifth, of 10, principles clearly stated: "The DPRK shall neither use nuclear weapons against the non-nuclear states nor threaten them with those weapons unless they join a hostile nuclear weapons state in its invasion and attack on the DPRK." As our Supreme Leader has always stated, we will give up our nuclear weapons when the rest of the world gives up theirs. This must be made clear in your opening statements and subsequent negotiation sessions.

However, we have not returned to these talks without some vision that we will be able to gain desperately needed sanctions relief. Therefore, we will support the Chinese and Russian plan to resolve this situation through a step-by-step process. This must be initiated by a solid commitment for humanitarian assistance to the neediest portions of our population. In that spirit, we would be open to the retention of U.S. forces in South Korea and Japan, without the continuance of joint JP-ROK-U.S. military exercises. This in exchange for guarantees from Washington that the U.S. will not invade, or in any way attack, our nation. Additionally, that the U.S. allow the free flow of commerce between our nation, and all nations, to truly serve the needs of our people and ensure the future of our nation.

Our Supreme Leader's true goal is creating a mutually respectful relationship with the United States, but it cannot be done within a coercive, superior-versus-inferior nation environment. Washington must first express its complete respect for our nation, our ways, and our people before we can be expected to discuss any possibility of concessions that may be needed to normalize relations between our two nations. Until we are granted that respect, we cannot be expected to show the same. Our sŏn'gun ideology states that, "the atrocities [of the past] manifest a U.S. desire to enslave Koreans so as to gain a regional foothold, expand across Asia and dominate the world." The Americans must demonstrate in both words and deeds that this is not the case if they expect our nation to see the possibility of trust developing between our nations. Confidence in that trust begins with their ability, or lack thereof, to show compassion in words and deeds, not just for the North Korean government and our Great Leader, but for the North Korean people.

As for Japan, the sworn enemy of the Korean people, they stole our country from us, and Korean people suffered greatly because of the Japanese occupation. An issue that has not been resolved (although it has for South Korea) are reparations for the wanton destruction, enslavement and murder of our countrymen during the Japanese occupation of the Korean peninsula. The brutal torture and murderous treatment against thousands of our countrymen, by the Japanese during that period, ending with their defeat in World War II, by far exceeds anything that may have been done by our government to a few Japanese citizens in the recent past. We will not continue to entertain their incessant whining about those few who were brought to, and lived good lives, in our nation. That issue was resolved long ago. If the Japanese delegation insists upon broaching this issue during these talks, inform the Chinese delegation that we will not allow any discussion of this matter. If that is still not enough to the Japanese on this issue, then your delegation has permission to ignore the presence in any, and all manners and ways, of the Japanese delegation. We will talk with them, but not about this issue, unless they begin by discussing reparations due to our nation.
